

DENTISTS ARE ROBBED OF VALUABLES

CITY HOSPITAL RULES PASSED BY CITY DADS

Other Important Business Is Transacted At Regular Meeting Wednesday.

Passing the Berger hospital governing ordinance, provision for more adequate fire protection, railroad of its request to remove withdrawal of the Pennsylvania two trains from its Lancaster to Cincinnati run, purchase of oil for streets, permission to Norfolk and Western railroad to establish automatic signal wigwag flashlights and ordinance vacating Alley No. six in the Andrew Huston second addition to the city which was passed, was the substance of the business transacted by the city council in the regular meeting Wednesday evening.

The ordinance for the Berger hospital provides for rules and regulations for the governing of the institution from the time it is turned over to the safety director, Wallace Crist, by the hospital commission. The ordinance provides for the number of nurses, the powers of the superintendent, for a medical advisory board and a number of other things.

Fire Chief Palmer Wise reported to council that the sections of stiff hose had been received and installed so that the department is now able to connect up with all the hydrants in the city. With this new hose, the pumper can be used when needed.

Wise also mentioned the fact that in his opinion it would be advisable to purchase a reducer to be used in connection with the large opening which is on the new hydrant at the hospital site, to make them the same size as Columbus ones, that in case assistance would be needed the Columbus department can use its equipment here. The matter was referred to the safety committee together with the director of public safety.

City Solicitor Paul Adams reported to council that he had received a letter from the Public Utilities Commission stating that the application of the Pennsylvania railroad to discontinue two of its trains between Lancaster and Cincinnati had been withdrawn.

An ordinance authorizing the director of public service to purchase oil for the purpose of oiling the surface of streets, alleys and public roadways in the city, was presented and passed under suspension of rules.

An ordinance making an additional appropriation in the sum of $120 to the safety department with which to pay Officer William McCrady the amount due him during the time he was off duty was introduced and passed under suspension of rules.

The Norfolk and Western railway company is expected within the next few days to begin installation of automatic wigwag flashlights at S. Scioto-st and Pickaway and Union-sts, following the action of the council in granting permission to do so. The permit for S. Scioto-st was granted last fall and it is understood the N. and W. already has some of its equipment on hand ready to work.

400 MILES AN HOUR IS GOAL

British Racing Pilots Make Efforts To Break All Existing Records.

LONDON, April 17.—Efforts to reach an air speed of 400 miles an hour will be made by racing pilots of the Royal Air Force, the Air Ministry announced.

In addition to the supermarine 56 planes which set new world records in the Schneider Cup races at Carlsbad last September, the pilots will have the use of the Gloster-Napier seaplanes, built for the same race, but not used.

The Gloster-Napier are being slightly modified and are expected to push the supermarines closely in the attempt for new records.

The Air Ministry has already decided not to compete in future Schneider Cup events and will devote much time and extra appropriations to research in speed.

Squadron leader, A. H. Orlebar, who attained a speed of 357 miles an hour at Calshot, will be chief pilot in the high speed tests.

Population Of City In 1920 Was 7,049; What's 1930 Figure?

TEN years ago Circleville had an official population of 7,049.

How much has the city grown? What is its population this year?

The census takers are rushing their work. They will have the exact figures ready within a week or 10 days.

Here's a chance to guess and win some easy money. For the guesses closest to the actual population figure as revealed by the Census department, The Circleville Herald will award two prizes—$10 and $5.

Many answers have been rushing into The Herald office. None are being reported by telephone, because we must keep our lines clear for regular business. In each mail a handful of envelopes containing guesses of Herald readers are received at the office. Employees of The Herald and all census takers are barred from the contest.

Following are a few more of the guesses which have reached The Herald census editor:

SPRING STORM LASHES NORTH PART OF OHIO

Portage River Section Forced To Flee Homes—Fear Guards May Break.

By International News Service. Stiff winds and rains continued to lash and pelt north-central and west Ohio today following a damaging spring storm last night that flooded lowlands and caused losses that will run into the thousands of dollars.

Scores of families along the Portage river were forced to flee from their lowland homes last night to higher quarters. At Port Clinton today the Portage river stood three feet above normal. Beeches at several points along this district were washed away by the gushing waters.

Fields in the flood-stricken Port Clinton district were under water, and farmers fear that spring crops have been badly damaged.

Heavy damage was done near Fremont by the spring storm. The Sandusky river and Sandusky bay were choked to flood levels and summer cottages along the shores there were damaged. The fishing industry in this district has been at a standstill since Sunday.

In Ottawa county heavy damage was believed done to the peach crops. Orchardists feared today that the storm will hinder the blossoming stage of the fruit trees for at least a week.

Cleveland, although pelted by heavy rains, felt the fury of the storm conditions only slightly.

Point Place, a low-lying Toledo suburb, today took stock of the damage which was caused by the worst flood in the history of the settlement early yesterday morning when the waters of Lake Erie, lashed into fury by a gale, swept over the breakwaters and inundated many houses in the area. Thirty families were forced to flee from their homes, and water four feet deep stood in some streets.

COTTAGES FLOODED
Hundreds of summer cottages along Lake Erie were also flooded and the water damage is expected to be high.

The flood also affected homes along the Maumee Bay shore. Grave reports circulated that the breakwaters may give away if the strong northwest wind continues to lash the shores. The wind and waters had receded somewhat today, however, and the alarm is decreasing.

WILL OF THE LATE SARAH GLICK FILED

Property Is Divided Between Nephew and Niece—Written In 1927.

The will of the late Sarah A. Glick of Madison-twp. was admitted to probate Thursday. The will provides that $100 shall go to Besie Simpson of Columbus, and the remainder to be divided equally between her niece and nephew Minnie Brobst and Daniel B. Neiswander. These two are named executors.

The will was written August 25, 1927 and was witnessed by Fannie Brobst, Canal Winchester and Dr. J. A. Kershner, Lithopolis.

COLUMBUS MAN HURT IN WRECK

Jeff Hammer of 323 S. Carver Columbus, was injured Wednesday night, in an accident which occurred one half mile north of Circleville. The cause of the wreck and the extent of Hammer's injuries were not learned.

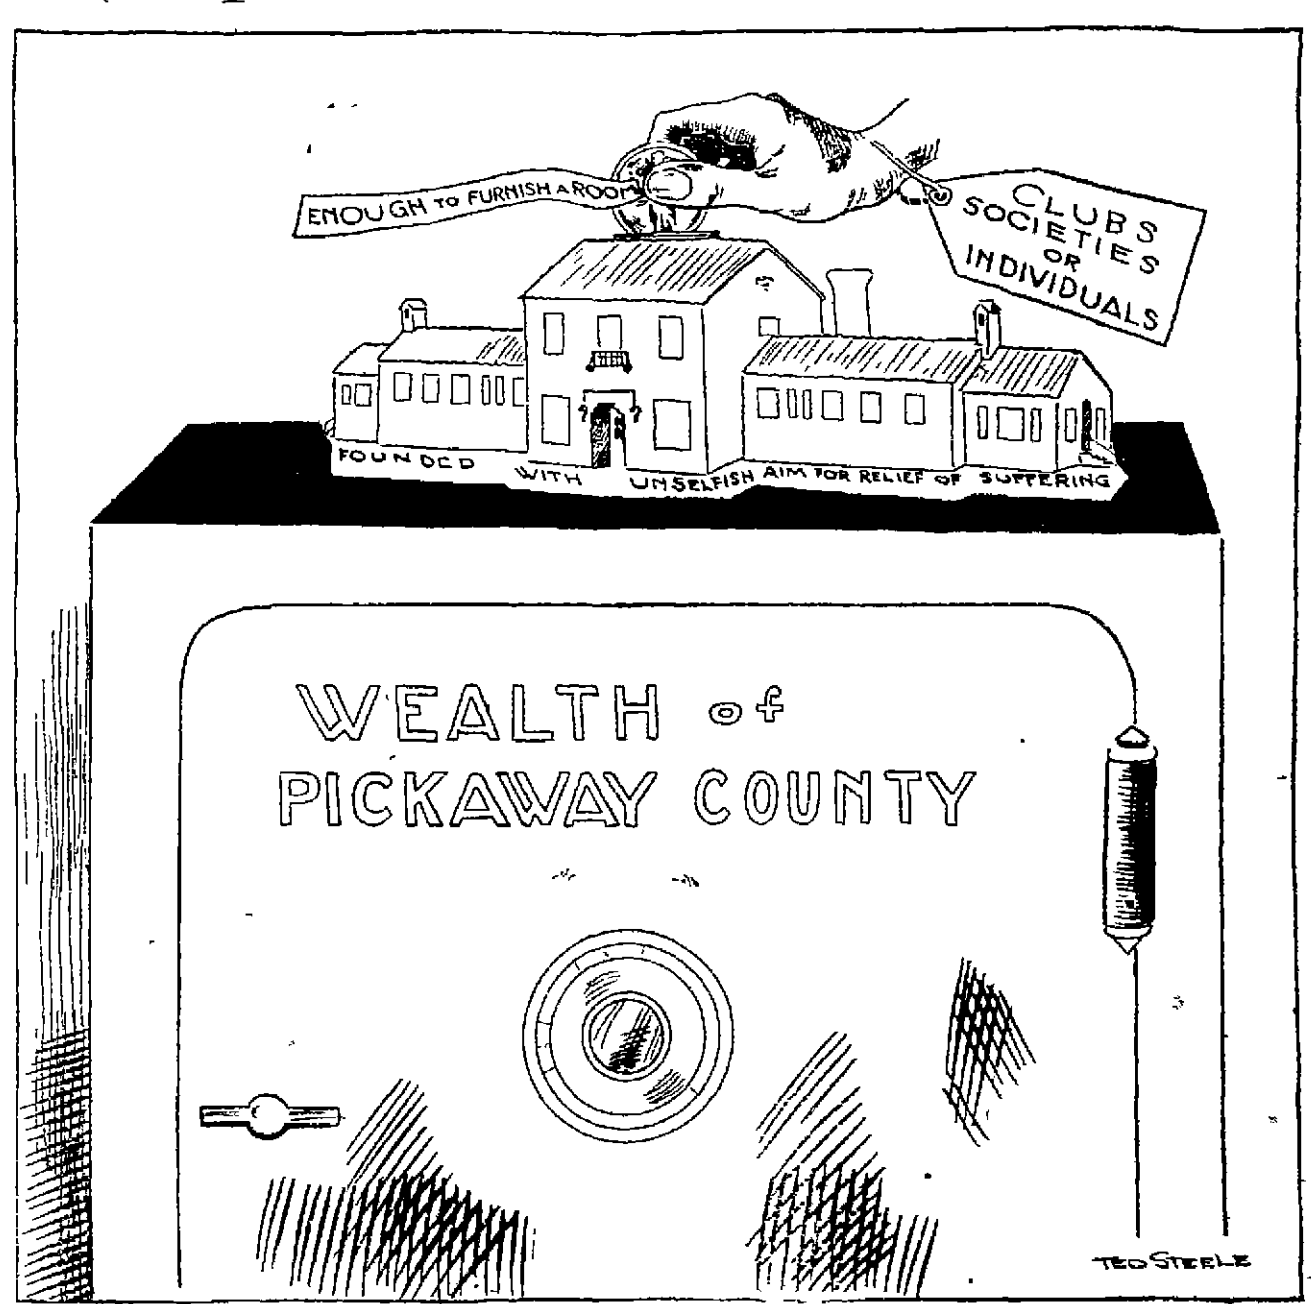

The car, a 1926 Pontiac was a message from Hammer to the wrecker for the damaged car. Later the Orr S. Zimmerman of Columbus sent their car after the Pontiac.

DRS. E. J. LILLY AND PHILLIPS ARE VICTIMS

Former Reports Theft of $200 In Gold and Platinum—$50 at Dr. Phillips'.

The dental offices of Dr. E. J. Lilly and Dr. G. D. Phillips were robbed Wednesday night of gold, platinum, gold teeth, plates, hypodermic needles and other dental equipment. The loss from Dr. Lilly's office was estimated at $200, and at Dr. Phillips' office at $50.

At the former place in W. Main-st, the door was broken open from the stairway, and the laboratory ransacked and robbed of gold leaf, gold plate, platinum points, wire, hypodermic needles, and gold fillings. Every drawer had been torn open, and the contents strewn about the room. In most cases the robbers had simply taken the gold or platinum out of their boxes. One larger box was missing however.

The robbers missed a glass vial filled with scrap gold, which Dr. Lilly valued at $50. This vial was in a small drawer that is almost invisible in a quaint old chest that stands on the top of the desk in Dr. Lilly's laboratory.

Dr. Lilly said this was the third time he had been robbed of gold since his practice in dentistry.

When the report of the Lilly robbery was made known, all of the dentists were checked to see if they had had a similar experience. All reported to the contrary. A short time later, Dr. Phillips reported that his office had been robbed of gold leaf which he valued at $50.

The front door of his office has been opened by a skeleton key. Another door, leading to the laboratory, had also been jammed. There was no sign of an intruder and Dr. Phillips would not have noticed his loss, immediately, had it not been for the robbery at the Lilly office.

GANG LORDS MAKE PACT

All Work Under Al Capone—Begin By Wiping Out Minor Competition.

CHICAGO, April 17.—The first move to wipe out "minor competition" was made today by the big shots of Chicago Gangland.

Joseph Cameron, alias Joe Blue, mail robber, and former pickpocket, who according to police attempted to "muscle in" on the bootleg "racket" was the first of the minor competitors to be eliminated.

An execution squad of gangsters, armed with machine guns, murdered Blue last night as the minor racketeer made a desperate attempt to escape in his small sedan.

The murder was accomplished with the efficiency expected of a modern gang king, and came after the really "big shots" among Chicago gangsters were reported to have signed an agreement to work united under the colors of "Scarface Al" Capone.

Blue was slain as he drove in Blue Island avenue. A big, dark touring car pulled alongside the racketeer's small sedan and a deadly machine gun rattled its death roll.

Blue's automobile swerved to the left and crashed into the curb as the execution car roared past and disappeared.

When police arrived they found Blue slumped in the seat with nine machine gun slug wounds in his head, back and shoulder. Nine other bullet holes were in the car.

WATER OFF AT 6 P. M.

DRS. E. J. LILLY AND PHILLIPS ARE VICTIMS

Former Reports Theft of $200 In Gold and Platinum—$50 at Dr. Phillips.

The dental offices of Dr. E. J. Lilly and Dr. G. D. Phillips were robbed Wednesday night of gold, platinum, gold teeth, plates, hypodermic needles and other dental equipment. The loss from Dr. Lilly's office was estimated at $200, and at Dr. Phillips' office at $50.

At the former place in W. Main-st, the door was broken open from the stairway, and the laboratory ransacked and robbed of gold leaf, gold plate, platinum points, wire, hypodermic needles, and gold fillings. Every drawer had been torn open, and the contents strewn about the room. In most cases the robbers had simply taken the gold or platinum out of their boxes. One larger box was missing however.

The robbers missed a glass vial filled with scrap gold, which Dr. Lilly valued at $50. This vial was in a small drawer that is almost invisible in a quaint old chest that stands on the top of the desk in Dr. Lilly's laboratory.

Dr. Lilly said this was the third time he had been robbed of gold since his practice in dentistry.

When the report of the Lilly robbery was made known, all of the dentists were checked to see if they had had a similar experience. All reported to the contrary. A short time later, Dr. Phillips reported that his office had been robbed of gold leaf which he valued at $50.

The front door of his office had been opened by a skeleton key. Another door, leading to the laboratory, had also been jimmied. There was no sign of an intruder and Dr. Phillips would not have noticed his loss, immediately, had it not been for the robbery at the Lilly office.

GANGLORDS MAKE PACT

All Work Under Al Capone—Begin By Wiping Out Minor Competition.

CHICAGO, April 17—The first move to wipe out "minor competition" was made today by the big shots of Chicago gangland.

Joseph Cameron, alias Joe Blue, mail robber, and former pickpocket, who according to police attempted to "muscle in" on the bootleg "racket" was the first of the minor competitors to be eliminated.

An execution squad of gangsters, armed with machine guns, murdered Blue last night as the minor racketeer made a desperate attempt to escape in his small sedan.

The murder was accomplished with the efficiency expected of a modern gang king, and came after the really "big shots" among Chicago gangsters were reported to have signed an agreement to work united under the colors of "Scarface Al" Capone.

Blue was slain as he drove in Blue Island avenue. A big, dark touring car pulled alongside the racketeer's small sedan and a deadly machine gun rattled its death roll.

Blue's automobile swerved to the left and crashed into the curb as the execution car roared past and disappeared.

When police arrived they found Blue slumped in the seat with nine machine gun slug wounds in his head, back and shoulder. Nine other bullet holes were in the car.

WATER OFF AT 6 P. M.

The Ohio Water service announced Thursday that water will be turned off Thursday evening at 6 p. m.

Streets affected are Court-st, south of Walnut-st, Pickaway-st south of Edison-ave; Washington-st south of Huston-st; Walnut-st, Logan-st and Town-st.

Mrs. William Goeller of S. Court street was a Columbus visitor Thursday.

Drive Uric Acid
Deposits From Rheumatic Joints

Don't Waste Time

There is one right way to end the pain, agony and swelling, when uric acid settles in joints and stubborn inflammation persists.

You must take a medicine powerful enough to search out the uric acid deposits and dissolve them.

And this medicine must also have the power to drive these poisonous acid accumulations from the body, through the natural channels.

Get the right medicine and severe, obstinate rheumatic attacks will swiftly leave you and won't bother you again for a long time.

You can go to Hamilton & Ryan's or any live druggist today and get just the kind of medicine you so badly need.

Ask for a bottle of Allenru—a powerful searching liquid that wastes no time in freeing you from the clutches of your merciless rheumatic enemy—Allenru comes in large bottles—it removes the cause—the uric acid deposits and impurities from the system and speedily pain, swellings and stiffness leaves you and physical fitness returns—if it doesn't do as advertised—money back—Adv.

The High school presented the operetta "The Lucky Jade" Friday evening in the high school auditorium, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Nottering. A capacity house enjoyed the entertainment. Every one did their part splendidly, and was very encouraging and showed great ability in Miss Nottering as a director.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The Sophomores enjoyed a delightful evening at the home of Galen Mowery by giving a weiner roast last Friday. Wood was gathered by the fire committee and put at the designated place early in the evening. The members and guests arrived shortly after six, and the fun immediately began.

After everyone had his fill of roasted weiners, etc., the recreation committee took charge and soon had the crowd participating in games. About two hours were spent in this manner before the party began to break up and the various members to depart for their homes.

Misses Radcliffe and Swearingen were chaperones for the party.

Drive Uric Acid Deposits From Rheumatic Joints

Don't Waste Time

There is one right way to end the pain, agony and swelling, when uric acid settles in joints and stubborn inflammation persists.

You must take a medicine powerful enough to search out the uric acid deposits and dissolve them.

And this medicine must also have the power to drive these poisonous acid accumulations from the body, through the natural channels.

Get the right medicine and severe, obstinate rheumatic attacks will swiftly leave you and won't bother you again for a long time.

You can go to Hamilton & Ryan's or any live druggist today and get just the kind of medicine you so badly need.

Ask for a bottle of Allenru—a powerful searching liquid that wastes no time in freeing you from the clutches of your merciless rheumatic enemy—Allenru comes in large bottles—it removes the cause—the uric acid deposits and impurities from the system and speedily pain, swellings and stiffness leaves you and physical fitness returns—if it doesn't do as advertised—money back.—Adv.

Feat after feat demonstrates power of DYNAMIC NEW ERSKINE

LOW cost is no barrier to champion performance! A small down payment procures it for you in The Dynamic New Erskine. This BIG car has repeatedly proved its power and stamina in typical Studebaker fashion. At Pomona, California, it set a new record for the 7.1-mile climb up Mt. Baldy, winning the famous Progress-Bulletin trophy for the fastest climb ever made by a strictly stock car. It climbed Stone Mountain, near Atlanta, Georgia, with four passengers, at a point where there was no road. It climbed 75 feet farther up Motorcycle

Hill, near El Paso, Texas, than any other car ever went. These and many other recent spectacular feats, certify that The Dynamic New Erskine, built by the Builder of Champions, is champion in its own right—entirely worthy of its 78-year-old heritage of quality.

SHIPBUILDING

A cartoon in a Chicago newspaper shows pictures of three orators and a sailor. There is a "French diplomat making a speech," a "British diplomat making a speech," an "Italian diplomat making a speech," and a German placidly sitting in the bow of a big steamship, smoking his pipe, with the legend, "German boat breaks Atlantic record again."

Somebody might want to know why America isn't in the picture. Ask the cartoonist or his boss. But as far as it goes, the cartoon speaks eloquently.

Keep your eye on the fat man in the boat. He, at least, is providing by the naval situation. While his rivals are arguing about warships and building them, he is building peace ships, saving his money and getting their business.

WAR FILMS AND KIDS

Twelve hundred English school children recently answered a questionnaire about war movies. The purpose of the inquiry was to find out how such pictures affected their attitude toward war.

All the children had seen from one to six big war movies, such as "The Four Horsemen," "The Big Parade," "The Better Ole" and "Dawn." Their replies showed 95 per cent of them opposed to war. Of the 49 boys and girls not opposed to war, only 22 seemed to regard it as a grand and glorious adventure.

There were children who called war horrible and cruel and who cited its economic waste, and a few who regarded it as sinful. A rather high percentage of these British youngsters showed a strong sense of fairness, having no marked prejudice against the enemy. Only 4 per cent of them showed any patriotic reaction, even to the picture about Edith Cavell.

Possibly all this proves something. At any rate, the investigators believe it indicates that movies influence children's viewpoint and that the war movies certainly have not made war popular with them.

CANNED GOODS ABROAD

There are plenty of jokes about American addiction to canned foods and the bridge-playing housewives who feed their families almost wholly with tinned goods. Recently more has been said about the high quality of canned fruits and vegetables and the modern methods of preparing them which preserves more nearly their natural flavor and food elements.

Now comes news that the canned food habit is spreading to other parts of the world. Exports of canned foods from the United States increased 11 per cent last year. Great Britain, Canada and the Philippines are our leading patrons, but other countries are beginning to take an interest in these products.

As compared with a diet containing no fruits and vegetables, one enriched by the canned variety of these essential foods is pretty good.

We can't see yet what good a ninth planet is, in a solar system that already has a good deal more real estate than it is possible to sell.

We Americans pride ourselves on our modernity when about 120,000,000 of us have never ridden in an airplane.

Lindbergh must be as remarkable a husband as he is an aviator. He has taught Mrs. Lindbergh to be an excellent airplane pilot, when other husbands can't even teach their wives to drive an automobile.

It seems to be just about as much use arguing about prohibition as arguing about the weather.

HOLDING HIS OWN

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

SYNOPSIS.

ENROUTE to a friend's house, young and lovely Eve Reade, meets Kenneth Wilmer, famous artist. He persuades her to visit the Hollis, friends of his before going on to her destination. She falls asleep on a divan to wake the next morning. Embarrassed for having spent the night, she leaves without saying good-bye. Ken visits her the following Sunday and tells her he loves her. Her friend, Mary, warns Eve they are unsuited for one another. Next day Eve meets Norwood O'Rell, the author. He invites Eve to tea. Later, Eve visits the Hollis, where she again meets Ken and his artist colleagues.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER IX.

FIFT Devoe was a slim, dark little creature with round, black eyes, which kept darting this way and that any minute, slightly grubby hands which never were still. She had a small, oval face, and her hair, bobbed evenly at sides and back and banged quite to her brows, was as straight and shining and solid-looking as carved jet.

She wore a soiled middie over a blue flannel skirt with a tear at the side, and scuffed sandals. They were hardly more than bands holding soles beneath her feet.

A slattern person, Eve thought, this girl who neglected any attempt to make herself attractive. Was it a pose? Perhaps Fifi wished to draw notice and took this means of doing it?

Certainly she had everybody's attention. But this might have been because of her vivacity, a sort of consuming energy which expressed itself in constant quick movement and a running chatter. They were talking of something she had done, some congratulating her, and others criticizing what they called her "style." Kenneth, sitting beside Eve, explained that Fifi had written a short story, "Love Gave Me an Hour," which a leading magazine had published. This was the first of Fifi's work to be accepted by a really important magazine, and it had made such a hit that a movie producer had wired her from Hollywood, and she was thinking of going out there to help with the screen version, if there were one.

Eve stared at the girl and some way could not imagine her as an author. "Is she always like this?" she asked Ken. "Always like she is now?"

But Ken did not know that Eve was thinking of the soiled middie, the scuffed sandals and grimy hands. "She's a great little, old kid," he replied blithely. "When I had her pop, Half French, you know; she lived in Paris till she joined some strolling American stock company and came over here a few years ago. Funny little accent when she gets excited. Hi, Fifi," he called, "C'mover here and meet folks, can't you? Eve's dying to know a successful author."

Fifi darted across the room, perched on the arm of Ken's chair, fixed her black eyes on Eve like a port little bird ready to flash at a fat worm. "You read my story?" she demanded. And when Eve was forced to shake her head Fifi shrugged, made a little grimace and turned to Ken. "Listen, what you zink of zis one? 'We Said Good-bye at Dawn.' You like that? Jan says 'yes.' Elma says 'no.' Now I ask you, is that good?" Kenneth laughed, flung his arm around Fifi's waist, drew her toward him in a gay, careless hug. "It's her act," he explained to Eve. "She gets a title and then goes all around asking everybody how good it is. If the jury turns thumbs all over, till she finds something that clicks. Then she locks herself into her shack and stays there until she's done her story. She calls it 'finished' with a grin, 'temperament. But it's what I said—her act.'" and of these she knew nothing at all.

And she began to feel left out and more than a little hurt, sitting there by herself, making her lips smile in the bright, vacant way that hides so many feminine heart-aches. She didn't blame them; they were old friends, and, of course, it was natural enough for them to talk shop. But among her own friends there always was someone to think of the stranger in their midst, to say the word, do the small thing which would make you feel you were not a total loss. Even Ken seemed to have forgotten her.

Fifi was going about again, asking opinions of "We Said Good-bye at Dawn." She asked every one excepting Eve. "Don't be a baby," Eve scolded herself. "What do you know about it—oh, about any of the things that make up their lives? And for heaven's sake smile or they'll think you're having a horrible time."

And she did smile, though it was not an easy thing to do. And presently a tall, remarkably thin young man strolled through the doorway, and through the midst of the argument, and let himself down beside her slowly with the effect of unfolding in sections.

"Nory O'Rell!" she cried, half hysterical with relief that some Fifi, perched on the arm of Ken's chair, fixed black eyes on Eve.

down a hostile sense of disapproval. But now Ken was leaning toward her, smiling, touching her hand. "Kiss me, Eve? Glad to see me again!"

"Oh, you know. I've thought of you so." "I did your picture from memory today. The way you looked that first night. . . . Eve. . . ."

His glance was a caress; she felt the glow rising in her heart, sweeping her like warm light. Then some one began an argument about a passage from the last best seller, and it grew so furious that Chuck got up abruptly, spilling Fifi all in a heap on the floor, and said he would bring the book to prove his point. And Ken sauntered over to help and shortly the crowd was plunged into a discussion in which Eve could not join for it all had to do with technical points of writing and illustrating.

one had noticed her at last. "When did you get here?"

"Couple hours ago," he answered. Been out on the veranda where I could enjoy myself."

"Well! Do you always do that? Keep yourself so exclusive and snooty?"

He said, "Only when I've something nice to remember," and gave her a long look.

Eve flushed and tried to make believe she thought him a tease, but she was pleased. And when the others would have drawn him into their discussion he took no part beyond "yes" or "no," making it plain that he preferred to remain with her, she thought this Nory quite the nicest person she ever had met—excepting, of course, Ken.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Infantile Paralysis---

Few Children Are Susceptible to It

Sunshine, Fresh Air, Good Food and Cleanliness Are the Greatest Preventive Factors, Writes Authority, and Every Child Is Entitled to These.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

CHILDREN go through many troubles before they grow to maturity. Many diseases bring misery to them. One of the worst of these is infantile paralysis, or, as the doctors call it, "polio-yelitis."

Fortunately few children are susceptible to this disease. More than three-fourths of the cases are met in the first two or three years of life. It may come at any age, even to grown-ups, but as I have said, most children are immune.

It is really a terrible disease. The paralysis leaves too many of the little ones crippled for life.

The attack comes without warning. The child is taken suddenly with vomiting, fever, headache and extreme prostration. After these acute symptoms have abated the paralysis is discovered. The damage is likely to affect the lower extremities. One leg or both may be involved. Sometimes other parts of the body are attacked.

There are several types of infantile paralysis. One is of the brain type. The latter is the most common form.

A child with this disease should be isolated. This is done for safety's sake, even though there is doubt that it may be transmitted to others. All the body excretions, including secretions from nose and mouth, should be burned.

At first, in the progress of the disease there is complete paralysis and motion is not possible. After a few weeks or months the muscles grow stronger, but whatever paralysis is left after this time is apt to remain permanently. There is a withering of the limb and it grows smaller. Walking is very difficult. There are some things which are helpful in regaining muscle control. Massage, electricity, baths, sprays and other stimulating applications are helpful in removing the effects of infantile paralysis.

Many children are crippled every year, by this malady. But there is always a bright spot in every picture. I was reading the other day of work being carried on by the Board of Education of New York City to help crippled children, at home. Many of these lame children in the city are helped in a most practical and tender way by being provided with special educational facilities. When necessary they are carried to school, where they are under special supervision for their physical defects and given instruction too.

Even more striking is the fact that these children are entitled to these facilities. Every child is entitled to these facilities. Every child is entitled to these facilities.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

A notable cast has been selected to present Sherlock Holmes, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's famous fiction detective, to the motion picture public in the all-talking feature, "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," at the Cliftona Theatre.

Clive Brook has the role of Sherlock Holmes, master man-hunter of all time. H. Reeves-Smith plays the part of Dr. Watson, his faithful confidant. Prof. Moriarty will be seen in the person of Harry T. Morey, well known for the past villainary. Sergeant Grinner will be faithfully portrayed by Hubert Druce. And there are a host of other characters, well known to the readers of these popular stories.

"The Return of Sherlock Holmes" brings this famous sleuth to the United States for the first time. The reason for his leaving the retired life, is the murder of his faithful friend, Captain Longmore on the eve of his son's wedding to the daughter of Dr. Watson. Holmes tracks the fiends to New York and succeeds in bringing them to justice after a series of the most thrilling adventure he has ever encountered.

AT THE METROPOLITAN

William Boyd and a uniform are becoming synonymous. The Pathe star's next appearance will be as a young khaki cavalier of the United States Cavalry in "His First Command," a new all-talking picture written especially for him by Jack Jungmeyer. It will be seen at the Metropolitan Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

It will be recalled that some of Boyd's most successful roles have been those in which he wore the distinctive garb of some branch of civil or military service. These include such pictures as "Dress Parade," "The Midshipman," "The Cop," "The Leatherneck" and "The Flying Fool."

Gregory La Cava, who was placed under contract by Pathe following the success of his production of "Big News," in which Robert Armstrong and Carol Lombard are featured, directed "His First Command," and Ralph Block was the producer. This is the first of three important pictures in which William Boyd will be starred on Pathe's new program of all-talking and silent pictures.

Dorothy Sebastian is featured as leading woman and the supporting cast is unusually imposing.

AT THE GRAND.

Sweet Lois Moran, aided by Joe Wagstaff and Dorothy Burgess play the leading parts in the all-talking, all-singing melodrama, "A Song of Kentucky," which appears at the Grand Theatre Thursday and Friday. The story is a melody melodrama of Tin Pan Alley and the Kentucky Derby and is well worth seeing.

The third chapter of "Ace of Scotland Yard" along with talking news completes the program.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as its tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

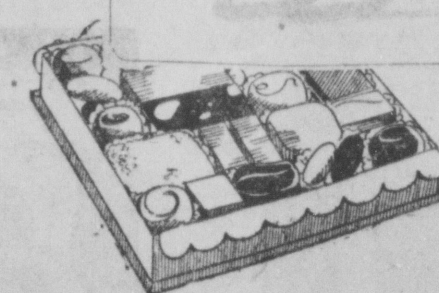

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue call for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe

GOVERNMENT REPORT SHOWS EMPLOYMENT ABOUT SAME

WASHINGTON, Government improvement in the next 30 days. The Bureau of Labor statistics reported a decrease of 0.6 per cent in employment in manufacturing industries, while payroll totals increased 0.1 per cent. Combined figures of manufacturing and seven major industrial groups showed a decrease in employment of one per cent in March as compared with February, while payroll totals decreased 1.2 per cent.

Employment increases were reported in these groups: Quarrying, four per cent; hotels, less than one-tenth of the one per cent; canning, 8.8 per cent.

Decreased employment was reported as follows: Anthracite mining, 22.7 per cent; bituminous coal mining, 3.7 per cent; metalliferous mining, 1.5 per cent; public utilities, 0.1 per cent; wholesale trade, 0.8 per cent; retail trade, 0.5 per cent.

The level of employment in manufacturing industries in March was 8.9 per cent lower than in March a year ago, while payroll totals were 12.6 per cent lower.

The outstanding decreases in employment in March were: Woolen goods, 7 per cent; hosiery, 2 1-2 per cent; men's clothing, 3 per cent; slaughtering, 3 per cent; railroad shops, 2 1-2 per cent; petroleum refining, 2 per cent.

Employment gains reported in March included: Fertilizers, 40 per cent; cement, 8 per cent; brick, 6 1-2 per cent; women's clothing, 6 per cent; millinery, 4 1-2 per cent; ice cream, cane sugar refining and cast iron pipe, 4 per cent.

The employment service said there was a gradual increase in operations and employment in the automobile industry, with every indication that the upward trend would continue. A large number of idle men have been absorbed in weather permitted work to be started on the 1930 road construction programs in many states, and this work will materially increase in the next 30 days.

Work has been started on the tremendous building programs that have been authorized in practically every city, county and state, and a material reduction in the number of unemployed building trades men should occur by the end of April, the report said.

The votes are counted for in this campaign we have several who are working early and late and are not neglecting one chance to grab off a subscription wherever possible.

Work with every bit of your power right up until the last moment, then take the result with a smile no matter what it may be. This is GOOD Sportsmanship and the world loves a good winner and a good loser. It is doubtful, however, whether the candidate who follows the above plan will have cause to regret the work accomplished when the campaign is over.

Today Mr. Orwell Barr takes the lead. Mr. Barr is busy every day, securing subscriptions here and there, sometimes many and sometimes few, but always some. Mr. Barr refuses to become discouraged and the other contestants will find him up among the leaders at the close, for he has scores of friends who will buy The Herald between now and the close.

Second place is held by Mrs. R. A. Hess of Five Points. Dudley Mills is in third place today. Mrs. Clinton Roby in fourth place today. The other contestants better watch Mrs. Roby for she is one busy worker these days and goes along selling the Herald every day.

Contestants should not overlook their promised subscriptions. Nearly every candidate in the campaign has several promises to collect and the time is getting short. April 23 will soon be here, and how will you meet your friends afterwards? Are you going to hang your head and slip up a side street when you meet a friend, relative or acquaintance who expected you to win, or are you going to walk up to them after the campaign is over and say: "Well, Bill, I won the automobile" because I worked hard and consistently. Just this same thing is going to happen to some candidate. To which class do you belong? This question must be settled this coming week, and no one can settle it for you but yourself. Get busy and save the extra vote offer and be satisfied.

FEVER TAKES FIRST VICTIM

Brunswick, O., Hit By Epidemic of Typhoid—Symptoms Are Strange.

BRUNSWICK, O., April 17.—Typhoid fever, which has stricken 20 persons here one-tenth of this village's population, today took its first victim of the epidemic in death. Mrs. Howard Widdifield, 24, died after an illness of only 11 days.

The woman was one of the first to become stricken in the epidemic, which for a time baffled medical authorities because of certain strange symptoms. The disease has been definitely established as typhoid, however, according to county health commissioner R. L. Mansell of Medina County.

The source of the disease, according to Dr. Mansell, has been traced to the village's milk supply. Tests have shown impurities, he claimed.

Doctor's PRESCRIPTION when system is sluggish; costs nothing to try

When your bowels need help, the mildest thing that will do the work is always the sensible choice. Take a laxative that a family doctor has used for all sorts of cases of chronic constipation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is so pleasant to the taste, so gentle in its action, it is given children of tender age and yet it is just as thorough and effective as stronger preparations. Pure senna, and harmless laxative herbs; ingredients that start a gentle muscular action. Avoid a coated tongue, laden breath, bilious headaches, etc. Every drug store has Dr. Caldwell's famous prescription in big bottles. Or just write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., for a free trial bottle.

GOVERNMENT REPORT SHOWS EMPLOYMENT ABOUT SAME

WASHINGTON, Government agencies reporting on the employment situation throughout the country indicated today there was little change in March in comparison with February. According to the U. S. Employment service, operations were increased somewhat in several of the major industries, with all signs pointing to further improvement in the next 30 days.

The Bureau of Labor statistics reported a decrease of 0.6 per cent in employment in manufacturing industries, while payroll totals increased 0.1 per cent. Combined figures of manufacturing and seven major industrial groups showed a decrease in employment of one per cent in March as compared with February, while payroll totals decreased 1.2 per cent.

Employment increases were reported in these groups: Quarrying, four per cent; hotels, less than one-tenth of the one per cent; canning, 8.8 per cent.

Decreased employment was reported as follows: Anthracite mining, 22.7 per cent; bituminous coal mining, 3.7 per cent; metalliferous mining, 1.5 per cent; public utilities, 0.1 per cent; wholesale trade, 0.8 per cent; retail trade, 0.5 per cent.

The level of employment in manufacturing industries in March was 8.9 per cent lower than in March a year ago, while payroll totals were 12.6 per cent lower.

The outstanding decreases in employment in March were: Woolen goods, 7 per cent; hosiery, 2 1-2 per cent; men's clothing, 3 per cent; slaughtering, 3 per cent; railroad shops, 2 1-2 per cent; petroleum refining, 2 per cent.

Employment gains reported in March included: Fertilizers, 40 per cent; cement, 8 per cent; brick, 6 1-2 per cent; women's clothing, 6 per cent; millinery, 4 1-2 per cent; ice cream, cane sugar refining and cast iron pipe, 4 per cent.

The employment service said there was a gradual increase in operations and employment in the automobile industry, with every indication that the upward trend would continue. A large number of idle men have been absorbed in weather permitted work to be started on the 1930 road construction programs in many states, and this work will materially increase in the next 30 days.

Work has been started on the tremendous building programs that have been authorized in practically every city, county and state, and a material reduction in the number of unemployed building trades men should occur by the end of April, the report said.

EVERY TEAM WINNING AND LOSING IN PRE-SKED TILTS

Eligible Lists Handed In, Umpires Arranged and City Promises To Drag Fields Before Each Game.

Circleville's recreation ball teams are practicing hard, often and late in an effort to get into condition for the opening of the league schedule, which will occur on May 5, two weeks from next Monday. Each team is working as often as possible and on each of the city's two available fields, the Ohio Utilities and Mason's a game is in progress almost each evening. "Everyone has been beating everyone else, so that relative team strength is not yet known. The Coca Colas last year's champs, were defeated last evening for the first time this year, at the hands of the Independent Grocers, a team which has not yet won a game in its practice schedule. The Cokes, in the meantime had drubbed the Gordon Tires and Doggy Ward's team and the Gordon had won a game from Ward's. Both Gordon and Ward's hold victories over the Grocers. These practice tilts don't mean a thing as far as the league race is concerned, but it does mean that a team manager has a chance to get a line on his men and to know what to expect from each player in the way of hitting and fielding. Seven of the eight teams have handed Secretary Russell Miller their eligible lists and according to these, things are on the up for a mighty successful season. Umpires have been arranged, an arbitrary board has been elected, and everyone is waiting for the crack of the first bat against the hostilities in earnest. The City of Circleville is going to aid the recreation league this summer, inasmuch as Mayor B. T. Hedges has promised that before each game the city service department will drag each field to keep it in condition to play.

CUBS AND CARDINALS SEEK SERVICES OF BIG BURLEIGH

Grimes Says If Braves Can't Win Pennant He Wants Pittsburgh Pirates To Win—Boston Turns Down Offers.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, April 17—Seeing a sure pennant in the twenty or more games he would win on their behalf, the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals already have made overtures to the Boston club for Burleigh Grimes. Both offers were bona fide. Both were refused. These statements were fired point blank at the writer today and the man who vouchsafed them may be designated as one who is in a position to speak with authority on the subject. His name is Grimes. He added that the Cardinals offered two players and the Cubs three, each proposal having a supplemental money inducement. This wasn't haircut money, it seems, but nevertheless the Boston club was looking pensively out the window. Both the Cubs and Cardinals are ranking contenders, yet Grimes showed no regret that fate has cast him for a role whose prospects were all too dubious. In fact, he professed to hold no resentment for anybody, not even those who last week arranged a preposterous trade, whereby he went from a possible pennant winner, the Pirates, to a probable tail-end, the Braves. Paraphrasing old Uncle Tom, he dismissed the incident lightly. "They can sell my body," said he, "but my career belongs to Burleigh Grimes. They can't take that away from me. I'll be pitching baseball when some of the men they trade me for, and even perhaps some of the men who trade me, are gone." Grimes makes quite a point of philosophy and tolerance, he wants the Pirates to win the pennant, if the Braves can't. He wants Percy Lee Jones, the man figured with him in the recent trade, to win twenty-five games this year. Yet, deep down, there must be a feeling of pained incredulity toward the series of asinine deals in which he has figured. The Pirates were satisfied to take Jones, an indifferent left hander, and Grimes, no doubt feeling a bit defensive about the matter, attempts to explain in thus: That Jewel Ens, the new Pirate manager, feared to keep Grimes more than he feared to let him go. That Dreyfus threatened to reduce his original offer unless Grimes signed promptly at the terms presented, a threat he found so intolerable that he says he

Recreation Teams Practice For Loop Opener

EVERY TEAM WINNING AND LOSING IN PRE-SKED TILTS

Eligible Lists Handed In, Umpires Arranged and City Promises To Drag Fields Before Each Game.

Circleville's recreation ball teams are practicing hard, often and late in an effort to get into condition for the opening of the league schedule which will occur on May 5, two weeks from next Monday. Each team is working as often as possible and on each of the city's two available fields, the Ohio Utilities and Mason's a game is in progress almost each evening.

Everyone has been beating everyone else, so that relative team strength is not yet known.

The Coca Colas last year's champs, were defeated last evening for the first time this year, at the hands of the Independent Grocers, a team which has not yet won a game in its practice schedule.

The Cokes, in the meantime had drubbed the Gordon Tires and Doggy Ward's team and the Gordon had won a game from Ward's. Both Gordon and Ward's hold victories over the Grocers.

These practice tilts don't mean a thing as far as the league race is concerned, but it does mean that a team manager has a chance to get a line on his men and to know what to expect from each player in the way of hitting and fielding.

Seven of the eight teams have handed Secretary Russell Miller, their eligible lists and according to these, things are on the up for a mighty successful season.

Umpires have been arranged; an arbitrary board has been elected, and everyone is waiting for the crack of the first bat against the first pitched ball which will open hostilities in earnest.

The City of Circleville is going to aid the recreation league this summer, inasmuch as Mayor B. T. Hedges has promised that before each game the city service department will drag each field to keep it in condition to play.

CONVENIENCE TO FARMERS PROMISED BY ELECTRICITY

Schedule For Extension of Lines To All Rural Communities and Governing Rates Adopted By Utilities Commission.

Emancipation from the drudgery and inconvenience of farm life became a certainty with the release by The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio of an order directing all companies furnishing electric energy for light, power and domestic use to file within fifteen days, a schedule providing for extension of electric lines to all rural communities and governing the rates to be charged for this extension of service.

This plan, as set forth in the Commission's order of today, provides that the rural customer may secure this service, by entering into a four year contract with the electric company and agree to use sufficient current each month at a regular rate to equal two percent of the cost of construction of the line to the customer's farm.

This relieves the customer of the necessity of making a large initial payment for a guarantee of service which often prevented the subscriber from purchasing necessary electrical equipment for use on the farm.

The order further provides that the line shall be constructed and placed in service, by the company, within six months after the prospective customer has signed contracts and completed the installation of wiring and equipment on the premises.

IDEA IN 1910
The idea of rural electrification was born, early in 1910, as the result of an experiment conducted by Samuel Insull, head of the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago, who replaced a number of inadequate small generating plants with a centralized transmission system serving about 20 towns in the vicinity of Lake Michigan.

This idea, constantly improved and enlarged, was quickly followed by various power companies throughout the United States and is responsible for the great strides made in farming and rural communities.

Ohio, today, takes her rightful place among the states having rural electric service as a part of their utility program. Rural communities throughout Ohio have had scattered electrical service for a number of years, but owing to lack of supervision by the Utilities Commission, the cost has been prohibitive and this service has been more of a luxury than a necessity.

After months of study of the plans used in neighboring states, Myers Y. Cooper, governor of Ohio, called together Frank W. Geiger, chairman of the public utilities commission, John W. Bricker and William Klingler, commissioners, members of the various farm groups and representatives of various power companies throughout the state. This group, with Ira E. Sprinkle, superintendent of investigation for the commission, discussed plans and policy regarding this pioneer movement in Ohio. Committees were appointed to poll their various communities with the thought in mind of mass subscription.

STUDY PLANS

Following a careful study of various state plans by engineers of the Public Utilities Commission, it was decided to use Pennsylvania and Michigan plans as a basis for negotiations. The issuing of this Administration Order by the commission today marks the culmination of these groups to place Ohio in the front rank as the seat of modern rural activities.

Progress as in the last few years in perfecting power machinery and equipment has made it possible to achieve this success. The question of rates, availability of service and the pro-rating of cost has been settled to the mutual satisfaction of all the members of this group. With rapid advancement of electrical refrigeration, it can readily be seen what a boon to the dairyman this service will mean. Farm chores need no longer be accomplished by the aid of a smoky oil lantern. It brings to the rural home all the niceties and conveniences of modern city life, lights, power, radio and the cleanliness that cannot be obtained with any other manner of illumination or heating energy.

With the realization of this dream, Ohio, a state of untold farm wealth in rich lands, will in the very near future become a serious contender for the mythical title "Garden Spot of the World."

American Missionary, Wife, Nine Children and Servant Rescued From Launch

COLON, P. C. Z., April 17.—Completely exhausted from starvation and exposure, J. W. Miller, missionary of Jacksonville, Florida, his wife, nine children and a negro servant were rescued today after being stranded for nine days in a motor launch in the Caribbean Sea.

Traveling from Bocas Del Toro in his small craft, Miller ran out of gasoline on April 6. For days the launch drifted helplessly while Miller and his family kept a constant look-out for some passing vessel to tow them safely to shore.

The small launch finally was sighted by the Cuban gunboat Patria about three miles off the Colon breakwater and was towed to the shore. A lookout on the gunboat had spotted Miller's distress signal—a small American flag hanging upside down on the launch's tiny mast.

The Millers are a party of "volunteer missionaries" who left Jacksonville in June 1928, for a cruise throughout the West Indies. They founded a small church on the Isle of Pines, Cuba.

Miller told reporters today that he intended to give up preaching the gospel and find more lucrative employment.

"Nine children make a big family," he said. "I think I will go back to carpentering work."

Mrs. Noah Weaver visited her son-in-law and daughter Dr. and Mrs. Anson Brown and children Donna Lee and Rita Jean Thursday.

Mrs. D. Adrian Yates and son David, were Columbus visitors Wednesday.

Mrs. S. F. Groom, Mrs. Allen Thornton and Miss Mary Malone were Chillicothe visitors Wednesday afternoon.

The small launch finally was sighted by the Cuban gunboat Patria about three miles off the Colon breakwater and was towed to the shore. A lookout on the gunboat had spotted Miller's distress signal—a small American flag hanging upside down on the launch's tiny mast.

The Millers are a party of "volunteer missionaries" who left Jacksonville in June 1928, for a cruise throughout the West Indies. They founded a small church on the Isle of Pines, Cuba.

Miller told reporters today that he intended to give up preaching the gospel and find more lucrative employment.

"Nine children make a big family," he said. "I think I will go back to carpentering work."

Mrs. Noah Weaver visited her son-in-law and daughter Dr. and Mrs. Anson Brown and children Donne Lee and Rita Jean Thursday.

Mrs. D. Adrian Yates and son David, were Columbus visitors Wednesday.

Mrs. S. F. Groom, Mrs. Allen Thornton and Miss Mary Malone were Chillicothe visitors Wednesday afternoon.
